

CANTILLON'S CREW OFF THIS WEEK FOR SOUTHERN CAMP

Nationals Will Play For World's Celler Title With St. Louis

Pulled Off Series for Seventh Place Championship Last Spring and Each Finished Eighth in '07 Pennant Race.

By THOMAS S. RICE.

This time next Sunday the Washington ball team should be safely housed in the Seaside Hotel, Galveston, Tex., there to remain until the night of March 28, when the team will probably leave for Dallas to play the New York Giants.

One feature of the training trip of the Cantillon crew this year which has been sadly neglected in the preliminary notices is the world's spring series it is scheduled to play in Galveston and Houston with the St. Louis Cardinals. The outcome of this series will be of momentous importance to the Capital fans.

It will be remembered that in 1905 Washington finished seventh in the American League and St. Louis seventh in the National League. Last year they trained in Houston and Galveston, respectively, cities about forty miles apart and brimming with local baseball enthusiasm and prejudice. On the spur of the moment and for practice a series of games was arranged, without either Manager Cantillon or Manager McCloskey thinking that the games would really be for the inter-major league seventh place championship, and even that honor is not to be despised when you carefully consider the city's baseball history.

The outcome of the games with St. Louis was sad disappointment not only to the Washington but the Galveston public, for the Cardinals won the next-to-last-place banner without trouble, although it must be admitted they were about the punkiest looking team that ever bobbed up in a big league.

In the course of human events Washington finished in the American League cellar in 1907, and the Cardinals also fell to the bottom, so neither team has any thing on its hated rival in the matter of showing for the season.

This year these brothers in grief will try conclusions again, to prove which is the very worst team in fast company. Cantillon, escape not, the leather medal this year he will never hear the end of the joshing as long as he lives. The loser in the series will be the recognized champion at all distances and all weights and kind friends will not hesitate to tell him so.

The absence of the name of Wish Egan, the Kansas City pitcher drafted by Cantillon from the list of Washington players who will go to Galveston, will probably take a burden off that young man's mind. He was very brash in making statements that he thought Washington had too many twirlers already, and therefore he might not be given a chance to show his real worth. Seeing that he looked at it in that way, Cantillon has apparently decided to let the young gent sprout a little longer in minor company.

Tom Williams, the Washington college wrestler who turned professional some months ago and recently distinguished himself by taking two falls out of Nic Ross, will have a chance to show his real worth when he meets Joe Turner to a finish in Washington March 16. Williams closely observed Turner's match with Andy Smith recently and convinced himself that he could throw Turner, although that young man has generally been conceded to be the best wrestler in the world on the mat in this city. Williams has strength and more science than was thought before he met Nic Ross, but he is still somewhat slow. He has plenty of practice before his coming engagement he may yet spring a surprise.

AM TAKING CHAMPS ON TO CALIFORNIA

—Charles Comiskey

Old Roman Still Making Rash Predictions for Sox.

CHICAGO, Feb. 29.—"I am taking the next world's championship team on a trip to California tonight. That's the way this trip looks to me."

This was the prediction of Charles Comiskey just before starting West with the coming season's White Sox ball players.

Comiskey, twenty-four ball players, some wives, and a bunch of good friends started tonight for California. There was all the noise one could expect as the special pulled out of the station.

"The White Sox, as they will line up this year, look like the best team I ever had," declared Comiskey. "It may be a little early to make such a strong prediction, but that is the way they size up. The veteran material I know, and the new men on their records ought to develop some first-class ball players good enough for any company."

"If we have no hard luck during the season I think we will land the American League championship. I have always maintained that winning the American League championship is the big job."

LOUGHREY TO MEET WELSH ON MARCH 6

Winner of Milwaukee Bout May Face Packie McFarland.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 29.—Young Loughrey, of Manayunk, who proved to be such a puzzle for Packie McFarland recently in this city, has been matched to meet Freddie Welsh at Milwaukee, Wis., on March 6 in a ten-round bout.

The winner of this contest will be given a chance to meet McFarland. Loughrey has fought nearly 100 bouts in less than one and one-half years and has only taken the full count once, having been dropped by Young when he was a novice. He subsequently beat Otto Welsh and Packie McFarland met in Milwaukee recently and the bout had an unsatisfactory ending. The Chicago lightweight fouled Welsh, but the referee was blind to the infraction of the rules. Welsh, however, he can beat Loughrey and is eager for another crack at McFarland.

FAMOUS CARLISE END SIGNS RECORD CONTRACT

CARLISE, Pa., Feb. 29.—William J. Gardner, last year's famous end on the best football eleven that has ever represented the Indian institution, has signed a contract to coach the Louisville Dupont Manual Training High School eleven next season. The consideration offered Gardner for his services by the high school authorities is said to be a record prep school salary. The former Indian end is said to have turned down offers from several minor colleges to accept his present berth.

SEWELL SHOWS WONDERFUL SPEED, SETTING RECORD

Two-Year-Old Makes 31-2 Furlongs in 0:41, Carrying Heavy Impost.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 29.—Sea Swell, the two-year-old Cossack colt belonging to Louis A. Cella, displayed his wonderful speed on the City Park course this afternoon by equalling the track record of 0:41 for three and one-half furlongs.

The feat was all the more remarkable, as Sea Swell carried the stupendous burden of 123 pounds, the highest impost allotted to any youngster this year. Despite the allowances he was making to the field, the layers held Sea Swell at the short price of 9 to 10, and even at this odds the Western commission broke the colt with the greatest confidence.

J. Lee had the mount of Sea Swell. Breaking the cold front, he made every post a winning one, and crossed the line half a length in front of Anne McGee, the second choice.

Sam Hoffheimer Takes Feature.

The Pickwick Steeplechase, run over the full course and the feature of the day, was captured by Sam Hoffheimer, William Gerst's gelding, at the liberal odds of 12 to 1. Dr. Heard, at 19 to 1, finished second. Rejectable, at 13 to 1, got third money.

Woodside, with Pending up, led the field for the first mile, with Sam Hoffheimer a second. Dr. Heard was third, five lengths in the rear. At this point Hoffheimer went to the front, and began to draw away from his field. Crossing the last jump he was six lengths ahead of Dr. Heard, and at the wire Sebel had pulled him up to a neck. Gold Circle and Logan, which carried the bulk of the money, finished seventh and eighth, respectively.

Lee and his friends cleaned up on the second race when Rhinestone, played from twenty-fives to fifteens, beat the favorite, Beem Ward, one length and a half for first money. The form-players fell with an awful thud when Aunt Rose, with Notter at 3 to 1, finished in the rack. This was the first money he had had since his suspension last week, and everybody agreed that he would celebrate his return to the saddle by a victory.

Notter Again Disappoints.

To the surprise of almost every spectator, Bitter Sir, at 8 to 1, got off running, and went under the wire a victor by a length and a half over Rural Boy, a 40 to 1 shot.

Notter again disappointed his admirers in the fifth race when his mount, Blagg, 9 to 5, favored him, and he was a poor third. The finish was fought out by John Carroll and Hyperion II. The latter led up to the last eighth pole, and Koerner brought him down with a rush, and beat the Cella horse half a length on the post.
